DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Todd (US 2003/0061093).

Todd discloses a system and corresponding method for rewarding customers comprising a financial institution, a financial alternative to currency issued by the financial institution-to one or more-consumers, and a participating merchant network accepting the financial alternative to currency to provide goods or services to the one or more consumers and receive reimbursement for the goods and services from the financial institution, wherein the financial institution charges the one or more consumers for the goods or services purchased using the financial alternative to currency and provides to each of the one or more consumers an award related to a total value of the goods or services purchased by each of the one or more consumers using the financial alternative to currency, each of the one or more consumers' awards being electronically transferable to one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through a standard routing system (p.2, 15-22; p.4, 60 to p.5, 63; p.5, 66 to p.6, 82; and p.6, 85 to p.7, 86); the standard routing system is an American Bankers Association routing system (p.2, 15-22; p.4, 60 to p.5, 63; p.5, 66 to p.6, 82; and p.6, 85 to p.7, 86 may be any routing system implemented by the institution); the standard routing system is an Automated Clearing House routing system (p.2, 15-22; p.4, 60 to p.5, 63; p.5, 66 to p.6, 82; and p.6, 85 to p.7, 86—may be any system implemented by the institution); the one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through the standard routing system comprise one or more bank accounts (p.5, 67 to p.6, 85); one or more investment accounts (p.6, 85 to p.7, 86); account is not in the name of one, or more consumers whose award is electronically transferable to the one or more other accounts (p.6, 85); the each of the one or more consumers awards are automatically electronically transferable based on an accumulated award amount, to the one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through the standard routing system (p.2, 15-22; p.4, 60 to p.5, 63; p.5, 66 to p.6, 82; and p.6, 85 to p.7, 86); the each of the one or more consumers' awards are automatically electronically transferable, based on a predefined schedule, to the one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through the standard routing system (p.5, 73); the one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through-the standard routing system are saved for faster subsequent transfers (p.4, 48-51); an interface accessible by the one or more consumers for electronically transferring their award into the one or more other financial accounts accepting electronic transfers through the standard routing system (p.2, 15-22; p.4, 60 to p.5, 63; p.5, 66 to p.6, 82; and p.6, 85 to p.7, 86); a method for increasing financial institution's revenue from a
